What's Next?

Alantron will do its best to transfer your domain name at the earliest time frame possible. This time frame is also dependent on the current contacts on record of the domain names and the current Registrar on record. We can not proceed with the transfer if at least one domain name contact or the current Registrar approves this transfer.

To speed up the process you are recommended to inform the current domain name contacts about this transfer and lift the transfer lock with your current Registrar if any. To eliminate Registrar related delays please provide us the transfer identification number of your domain name if you current Registrar has assigned one.

The ownership of the domain name and nameserver configuration will not be changed with this transfer. You will not loose any remaining days of your domain name and one year extension will be applied.
